

Weekly Class Newsletter

February 6, 2016

Hey everyone!

This week we FINALLY have a full week with no Saturday school 😊

For math, we are moving in our fraction unit with fractions on a number line and equivalent fractions using number lines and fraction bars to correct.

In reading, we are finishing our unit with biographies; their papers are due THIS Friday! We have our project due when we return in March so PLEASE encourage your child to work on their projects and do their best work when researching.

We are also looking at our writing for creating monologues on biographies for the wax museum as well as a written biography paper.
